Didsbury pool facility plebiscite called

By Janice Harrington

A public plebiscite to find out whether or not Didsbury residents will agree to borrow money to build a proposed pool facility has been called for the end of the month.

The issue of the May 26 vote will be over the debenture of $1,078,715 the town will need to make to build the leisure centre facility.

Didsbury town council voted last week to hold the plebiscite to ask proprietary electors whether they will authorize a borrowing by-law for the pool.

"Because this has been a kind of controversial issue, we are going to the voters to see how they feel about it," said Mike Storey, town administrator and returning officer for the vote. "Whether or not we borrow the money will be their decision."

The debate over the construction of the pool has been ongoing since the idea of replacing Didsbury's original indoor swimming facility was introduced. While the majority of people agree a town swimming pool is a good idea, some business owners are concerned about the cost.

"I have no trouble with the recreational aspect of the pool," said Ed Nolin, owner of Ed Nolin Chev Olds. "I would like to see Didsbury get a pool as much as anyone. But I feel we need more of a tax base to pay for these kinds of things. The tax levied on businesses at this point, well, many just can't afford to pay."

But not all business owners feel the added tax burden will be hard to bear. Mike Hofforth, owner of the Didsbury IGA said he feels the increase in taxes created by the pool debenture will be minimal.

"I don't see that there will be much of an added tax burden if things are handled properly," he said. "I feel that nothing ventured, nothing gained. If we put in something like the pool, new businesses and new people are going to look at the town and realize we are trying to grow not just letting slide."

Build Our Pool Society executive member Steve Fillmore agrees.

"I agree with building this project for several reasons," said the Mutual Life representative. "First because there are no other close communities that have an indoor pool and it would be a real drawing card to Didsbury for people who don't want to fight the crowds and the traffic in Calgary or Red Deer. Also many people think that taxes will go up, but it has an enhancing factor and I think property values will also increase slightly."

Base cost for constructing the proposed facility is estimated at $1.175 million. Additional costs for a vestibule to attach the pool to the Didsbury Memorial Complex, landscaping, and the contracting of a project manager would bring the total price tag for the first phase to approximately $1.5 million.

The second and third phases, which will add a hot tub and water slide, would be constructed at a later date through the fundraising efforts of the Build Our Pool Society.

Currently, the town has around $430,000 saved up for the project which includes a $100,000 provincial grant from the Community Facility Enhancement Program. Town administration estimates the town mill rate will increase by 2.45 mills if the debenture is made.

The vote on the issue will be held Tuesday, May 26 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Didsbury Memorial Complex. To be eligible to vote, you must be over 18 years of age, a Canadian citizen, have lived in Alberta for the past 6 months and reside in Didsbury on the day of the vote. Since this vote will only include proprietary electors, you must be a land owner in the town's jurisdiction, meaning that your name must appear on the assessment role for tax purposes, or you are liable for mobile home licensing fees.

Results of the plebiscite will be unofficially announced the evening of the vote after the polls are closed. Official results will be made public on May 30.

Soggy sales

Didsbury's Moonlight Madness was wet and miserable, but it didn't stop town residents from taking advantage of the great specials and cheap food. IGA offered a hamburger and glass of pop for $1 to all passers-by and the Scouts and Girl Guides offered chili to warm up shoppers in the Eldon Foote Hall. Elevator movies, planned for the evening as a fundraiser for BOP, had to be cancelled because of the weather.

I was waiting in line at the U.F.A. (Farm Store), to buy milk replacer for our cats. I always feel a little funny about buying milk replacer for this purpose. When there are starving kids in the world should we be pampering barn cats? But, we like our cats and neglecting them wouldn't do anything for Ethiopian orphans and we need cats to catch mice and healthy cats make better mousers and so we buy the milk replacer and twice a day the cats lap it up.

There was a young woman just ahead of me and I couldn't help but overhear her conversation with the man at the counter. "I have come to pick up a barrel of oil," she said, "my husband paid for it yesterday but you didn't have it then and you said we could pick it up today." The clerk knew immediately where her problem lay but he was diplomatic enough to want to spare her embarrassment. "We don't have oil here," he said gently, "I think you want U.F.A. Oil on the other side of town." The customer threw her hands in the air, "Maybe he could have mentioned this before I left home," she snapped, "wouldn't you think he could have told me where I was supposed to go?" She turned on her heel and strode out of the store taking my sympathy with her.

Her husband didn't mean to mess up her day, "Pick up a barrel of oil at the UFA," would have made perfect sense to him and it wouldn't occur to him to specify which UFA. One of the basic differences in men and women is that what is obvious to one is not obvious to the other and if you further complicate things by joining a farm boy and a city girl, be prepared for misunderstandings of epic proportion.

On one of our neighboring farms we have just such a combination and as they approached their very first harvest the young man told his bride to expect 12 or 14 men for dinner next Monday. This was a big undertaking but she was certainly going to give it her best shot. She spent the weekend making pies, cookies and cakes and even boiled up a pot of potatoes in case she needed to do hash browns for early arrivals. On Monday morning, first things first, she extended the table, covered it with a crisply ironed tablecloth and set out china and silver. She even used 2 forks at each place, dinner and dessert, this was the way she'd been raised and these were her standards. She was arranging her centerpiece, a wicker cornucopia filled with flowers and fruit when her husband popped in to see how she was managing. He nearly had a heart attack, because dinner to him was 12 noon which it now was. Dinner to her was 6 p.m. and several hours away. "Sausages," she says, "I cooked the world's fastest sausages and served them with warmed-up potatoes, canned corn, sliced tomatoes and lots of pie which they ate with whatever fork their hands fell upon."

Years later a girl who had been born and raised in New Brunswick and spent 10 years nursing in Calgary fell in love with a local farmer. Soon after they met she began driving out to spend weekends at his folks farm. Her boyfriend was usually in the field when she arrived, she expected that, in fact she had seen his big green tractor when she came in. She began to watch for his tractor and when she saw it of course she waved and smiled and blew kisses. The driver seemed a bit shy at first but soon he was responding nicely and though he didn't always blow a kiss he certainly waved and smiled. And then one day her fiancée was with her in the car and there was the familiar tractor and the familiar driver and the realization that for weeks she had been blowing kisses at a complete stranger.

In our house major misunderstandings often arise from Ralph's assumption that what he knows I know. He thinks that my brain picks up from his by osmosis. "Phone what's name at that agency and tell him we are going with the 43XJ," he will say. "They will ask me things that I don't know," I try to tell him, "I hate sounding stupid and I won't be able to answer their questions." "You know as much about it as I do," he says, "it's a simple thing, just make the call." And so I do and their very first question is, "Do you want turple injected fangle floppers or sonically augmented gargleflads?" I of course, have no idea.

The young woman at the UFA has a long row to hoe. With luck she and her husband will be crossing each other up for a few years to come.

MVBC plans thank you weekend

By Janice Harrington

A special celebration weekend is being planned by the Mountain View Bible College to say thanks to Didsbury for all its support over the past 65 years.

The celebration will be the final event at the college before it moves to Calgary to join up with Hillcrest Bible College.

College President Dr. Virgil Stauffer said the Didsbury salute will be part of the College's celebration and reunion weekend planned for May 15, 16, 17 and 18. The Friday night event will specifically focus on Didsbury and the people who have helped make the College so successful since it was built in the town in 1926.

"There are two reasons for the whole celebration weekend," said Stauffer. "One is to put closure on the College with the supporting constituency and alumni, and the other is to salute the town, to really recognize the value of the relationship between the college and the town."

Stauffer said plans to saluting the town include the Friday evening program called "Tipping

Our Hats to Didsbury" and a fireworks show to be held at 10:30 p.m. at the Ross Ford School.

"We are also donating the big sign to the town's historical library as well as a pulpit and communion table for a display in the museum," he said.

Stauffer said plans to shut down the College in Didsbury had been in the works for most of the past 20 years. An official vote to merge with Hillcrest College in Medicine Hat was made in 1988. Towards that end, Stauffer said, the old Foothills Alliance Church, across from the university in Calgary was purchased to house the new Rocky Mountain College, the conglomerate college of MVBC and Hillcrest.

"I guess our biggest reason for the move was to be in the urban setting, to interact with the cross cultural communities," said Stauffer. "Students do their practicum in local churches, and in this setting they don't have that exposure."

Stauffer said the move was also to help accommodate working students. He expects half of the College's enrollment will be part-time by 1997.

The economic advantages of having twice the students with only half the staff was also considered in making the decision.

The Mountain View Bible College was founded in Didsbury in 1926 by the Didsbury Missionary Church. Stauffer said the College enjoyed a good working relationship with the town right from the beginning.

"The business people, which some of the students have worked for throughout the years, have always supported the college in many different ways," Stauffer said. "And the same goes for the town."

The celebration weekend will also be a homecoming for past students and staff of the college and will feature the official change over ceremony on Sunday. An auction will also be held on the Monday morning to help raise funds for the new college.

The "Tipping Our Hats to Didsbury" salute begins at 8 p.m. at the College campus.

Town Council notes

By Janice Harrington

The Town of Didsbury has made application for a government grant to help pay for the construction of a town gazebo.

Application for $17,000 was made to CTAP in order to pay for the construction and landscaping costs of the gazebo which will be placed in a small park downtown beside the Eldon Foote Hall.

Controversy over exactly where in the park the gazebo will sit has already begun. The downtown Business Revitalization Committee wants the gazebo to sit in the centre of the land, creating a small park area, but council wishes it to be placed closer to the hall to make room for more downtown parking.

Town Administrator Mike Storey said council's decision was made based on a request for more parking in the area by the Didsbury Chamber of Commerce.

Both the BRZ and the Chamber of Commerce plan to meet to reach a final agreement on where the gazebo will be placed later this month.

Town council is sending a letter to the County of Mountain View Board of Education to state their objection to the increase in town's share of the supplementary requisition for 1992/93.

The school board is requesting a 9 percent increase for this year and another 9 percent increase is expected for the following year.

Last year's requisition saw a 13 percent increase.

Councillor Doug Sharpe made the suggestion that the letter be sent. A letter to other councils in the county will also be written to see if they also object to the increasing budget demands of the school board.

A by-law to borrow $60,000 for the upgrade of the town shop has been passed by town council.

The money will be used to purchase land east of the current shop at a cost of $30,500. The rest of the money will be used to upgrade the land with stripping, filling and construction of a fence and gate.

Purchase of the land means the town can give up their lease of the land next to the rail road tracks and house town equipment in a secure spot. Currently, town equipment and materials are kept in an unsecured area.

A final public presentation on the proposed Didsbury indoor swimming pool facility will be held on May 20.

This public meeting will give residents a chance to look

Toxic clean-up

Toxic Round Up was held at the Didsbury Fire Hall last Monday. Over 200 barrels of household toxic waste was collected. A lot of old paint was also collected prompting a paint swap program to be started at Home Hardware. If you have old, still usable paint you don't want you can take it to the store, or go in to pick up some already dropped off.

RCMP report

A Firearm Acquisition Certificate, commonly known as an FAC, is a document required by all people who wish to buy, borrow or inherit any firearm purchased after January 1, 1979. Applications can be made by filling out the appropriate form available at the RCMP Detachment. Certain criteria must be met before a FAC is issued. An FAC will not be issued to a person under the age of 16, nor to an individual who has not completed a course in safe handling, use or completed a test in firearms. An individual who has been prohibited from having a firearm or who has been convicted within the preceding five years of an offence using violence against another person will not be issued a FAC. If the individual has been treated for mental disorder or has been treated for mental disorder or has a history of violent behavior within the preceding five years will not receive a FAC. These regulations implemented in 1977 by the Federal Government help to reduce the access that potentially dangerous users have to firearms, thus creating a safer environment for all.

Didsbury RCMP received 161 complaints between April 15, 1992 and April 28, 1992, 33 of which were criminal code offences. During this time period, the RCMP responded to a total of 8 motor vehicle accidents, one of which resulted in the death of one individual. The members of Didsbury Detachment have also been busy during the last two weeks writing traffic tickets and written warnings, 46 in total. Five individuals were charged with impaired operation of a motor vehicle.

OPINIONS/EDITORIAL

A look back

By Janice Harrington

The other day, while cleaning out some of the shelving in our back room at the office, a copy of the very first edition of the Didsbury newspaper was discovered.

Being a history buff as well as a newspaper buff (as you can imagine) I was instantly fascinated with the find and spent the next couple of hours pouring over the fragile, yellowed pages of the 90-year-old document.

Looking back to Friday, February 13, 1903, it was strange to see what things had changed and which had not. A front page story in the paper gave a description of Didsbury and a bit of its history. The town was described as expanding rapidly "no boom but a substantial and healthy growth"; a good location for stock raising and mixed farming. It said many people were moving to the area from the U.S. to take advantage of the weather, which was described as "pleasant as a whole and quite equitable throughout the year, the mercury seldom registering lower than 25 degrees below zero—the most pleasant months usually September and October." In 1903, the story said, the town had a school with two departments as well as a bank and a number of local businesses. (No mention of a pool).

Other advertisements and stories throughout the newspaper gave a small taste of what life was like in the very early part of this century. A sort of gossip column gave the news about town residents' movements and visiting habits and there was even a small local sports story about (what else) hockey.

As I looked through the paper and read things like the market report (which listed eggs and oats selling for 25 cents and wheat and potatoes for $1), looked at all the ads for health care and local stores and read the news articles (the vast majority of which were reprinted from larger newspapers around the country), I was struck by the thought about that first editor's hopes and ambitions. Did he (or she—I can't tell which because the name was only listed as G.E. Grow) have any idea that the paper would still be around 90 years later? Did he write with the knowledge that what was being written would be looked at as an archive, a record of what the town was like in 1903? It is an awesome feeling to think that someone from later in the 21st century will read the words I write. Makes me want to double check my grammar.

So on that thought; about the past and the future, I wanted to share with you Didsbury's very first editorial, exactly as it was written.

Salutatory, to the public! In taking up this work the object of the editor is to promote the welfare of the town and surrounding country, to which end, we invite the hearty cooperation of all, and we shall use every honorable means at our command to effect the same. We shall endeavor to give the news in a complete and impartial manner and correspondence is solicited on all matters of public interest but articles of personal nature must be accompanied by the name of the writer and the Editor reserves the right to accept or decline all of such character.

Politically we shall give the news from an Independent standpoint as we feel that in a small place it is best not to take up party issues. Again asking the hearty cooperation of all and thanking one all for courtesies already shown we remain respectfully, Editor.

Some things never change.

A heartfelt thank you

Dear Editor:

To the kind person who stopped to help me the other day:

There I was, standing at the side of the road, using some inventive language and wondering how I could be so stupid, when you came along in your silver/grey car. You asked me if I was having trouble with my scooter, I said no. Then you asked if those were my papers, a hundred feet back in the ditch. I said yes. You offered several times to help me pick up my papers, but I declined.

I was riding my scooter along the highway in a killer wind, when suddenly the cord on my carrier snapped, and my notebook fell out, scattering the first three chapters of a book I had been writing across the road. I had stopped, and was waiting for some cars to pass, when you came along.

I guess the funny thing is, that before you arrived, about four people drove right over my stuff like it wasn't even there, and didn't stop to ask me if I was having trouble. But you did.

I just wanted to say . . .

Thank you.

(P.S. I went back and picked up those papers. The book is going well.)

Yvonne Dick,

4-Hers applauded

Dear Editor:

As I was traveling down to Medicine Hat last Saturday, May 2nd, I was really thrilled and proud to see the 4-H team—members and parents—cleaning out our highway ditches.

The recent news of violence from the states, plus in Toronto, was appalling to hear and I was wondering why these vibrant young lives aren't in similar programs to redirect their retaliation and use their pent-up feelings and energy into doing something good and constructive for their community and country.

Thank you 4-Hers for keeping this part of Alberta clean! A job well done and very much appreciated and may we all follow the example of this great team work to keep our beautiful province, Alberta, clean!

GST simplified for small business

New procedures for the Goods and Services Tax should help 1,000,000 Canadian businesses save time and money.

Federal Revenue Minister Otto Jelinek, in announcing the changes, said they should further simplify the administration of the GST and help to improve the competitiveness of Canadian business.

Under the new rules, small businesses will only have to file one GST return every year, instead of four, and they will no longer have to calculate four times a year. Annual filers will simply divide their previous year's tax payment by four and make quarterly instalments within one month of the end of the quarter.

The smallest of businesses, such as student painters and landscapers, who collect less than $1,500 in next GST annually, will only have to deal with the GST once a year. The payment threshold has also been increased by 50% from $1,000.

The changes will result in 2.5 million fewer GST returns being filed, thereby considerably reducing the paper work faced by small businesses.

On reviewing the first year's operation of the GST, the department has identified areas where assistance to business can be improved.

A new basic education course will be offered to businesses operating under the GST system for the first time.

"Show Me" pamphlets are being tailor-made for small businesses, such as plumbers, artisans, hairdressers and carpenters.

Video overviews of the GST will be available to trade associations, cable television outlets, schools and libraries. A specialized video is being developed to demonstrate how to keep tax filing and accounting as simple as possible.

These changes will encourage small businesses to take advantage of the Quick Method of GST accounting, which allows them to remit the tax based only on a percentage of their sales. This method eliminates any need for detailed accounting and bookkeeping for GST purposes.

In last February's budget, the government promised to introduce one-stop services in federal offices. To cut out government red tape and duplication, Revenue Canada is introducing the service in its GST offices, starting with five offices in the Atlantic region.

Mr. Jelinek indicated he will introduce an amendment to the GST legislation to allow interest against businesses to be waived under special circumstances.

MP's column

Louise Feltham Wild Rose M.P.

Spring--flowers are up, baseball season is here and university and college students are looking for summer jobs. Need some workers? Hire a student! The friendly, professional, staff at the Youth Employment Centres can put you touch with energetic students who are eager to learn and know the value of a hard earned dollar.

Since 1967, Student Employment Centres across Canada have placed millions of students in summer jobs.

Times have changed since the program first began and so has the significance of summer employment. Students recognize that summer experience in their academic field is invaluable--not just to cover some of their expenses during the following school terms but to provide them with practical experience and personal references.

Employers also attach great importance to summer jobs. In their ongoing search for new talent, summer jobs are a tool for assessing and developing a young person's potential. By hiring a student today--employers are making a solid investment in Canada's future work force.

The Economic Council of Canada published the first comprehensive study of the way our school system prepares our young people for employment. The title of the final report is, "A lot to learn." The report underscores the fact that education is a cumulative process. One conclusion that the Council reached is that there must be communication between learning and the Labour Market. Employers must let our young people know the skills needed in the work force and students, parents, and educators must read those messages properly and react to those signals.

Estimates say that 30% of young Canadians do not graduate from high school. This is not good. The Economic Council studied successful Japanese and German systems to gather suggestions for Canada. In Japan there is a sharing of education and training between the educational system and the employer. In Germany there is an obligation to all employers to extend formal training to all employees under 18 years of age. Success is seen to be strongly linked to motivation, motivation is based on encouragement and reward.

We all want to encourage our young people to strive to be the best they can. One way we can do that is to invest in them ourselves--to offer them our guidance this summer.

Curiosity can kill the cow

A cow's curious nature can be just as deadly as the proverbial cat's says an Alberta Agriculture ruminant nutritionist.

"Cows are curious animals and they are able to locate anything that is a bit different or unusual," says Barry Yaremco. "This includes fertilizer or treated grain spills that are a hazard to their health."

Cattle will cover the length and width of a pasture looking for specific types of forage. Along the way they could encounter fertilizer or treated grain spills left in a yard or pasture. "Cattle aren't smart enough to know what is harmful to them. A cow will satisfy its curiosity by tasting anything unfamiliar, and it doesn't take very much fertilizer to kill a cow," he says.

Ammonium nitrate (34-0-0) and urea (46-0-0), two of the most common fertilizers used on pastures, are common problems. A 1,200 lb. cow can be dead after consuming 1.1 kg. of ammonium nitrate or 250 grams of urea. A four litre ice cream pail of fertilizer weighs about two to three kg. "So, if the fertilizer consumed is urea, the four litres of fertilizer could possibly kill eight to 12 animals if the fertilizer is eaten at one feeding," he warns.

Ammonium sulfate fertilizer (34-0-0-14) is the most toxic to cattle. Forty grams of ammonium sulfate can kill a cow.

Yaremco advises farmers to check for and clean up any spill before letting cows into an area after they spread fertilizer on a pasture or load it in their yard or field.

The same precautions and more apply to treated seed grain he adds. "Animals that consume treated grain are at risk as deaths can occur in a very short period of time, so all spills should be cleaned up immediately."

Any equipment used to handle treated seed must be thoroughly cleaned before handling any other feed. Small amounts of seed treatment will stick to the sides of the grain box and the flighting of augers. Both must be thoroughly washed and the dried seed treatment removed.

CWB still accepting CPS Contract applications

The Canadian Wheat Board has announced that it is continuing to accept 1992-93 guaranteed delivery contract applications for Canada Prairie Spring (Red and White) wheat.

Applications will be accepted on a first-come first-served basis until sufficient quantities have been contracted to meet the Wheat Board's marketing plans. All applications already received by the Wheat Board will be accepted in full.

Applicants will be required to assign one quota acre in their 1992-93 permit book for every two tonnes they estimate for delivery.

Applications for Wheat Board contract programs are available at country elevators.

CWB urges utility wheat

The Canadian Wheat Board said higher production of Utility wheat is required to meet growing market demands, therefore, the Wheat Board is encouraging producers who are farming in regions which are agronomically suited to Utility wheat to consider growing additional acres of this crop.

The Wheat Board noted that considerable interest in Utility wheat has been developed in the United States and Italy, and further firm interest could be developed in Asian markets if more supplies were available. The ability of Canada Western Utility to carry weaker wheats makes it particularly desirable for certain blending purposes. The prospects for increased sales of Utility wheat are very good.

The increased demand for Utility wheat has been reflected in returns to producers. The initial payment of No. 1 Canada Western Utility is now at about the No. 2 Canada Western Red Spring level, and it is expected this improvement will continue in the foreseeable future.

The Wheat Board will continue to accept applications for the 1992-93 guaranteed delivery contract program for Utility wheat to encourage additional sign-up acreage.

Producers who sign contracts with the Canadian Wheat Board are guaranteed delivery of contract tonnage by the end of the crop year. Applicants will be required to assign one quota acre in their 1992-93 permit book for every three tonnes they estimate for delivery.

Farmers urged to join great drug round-up

Rural Albertans with old veterinary medicines are encouraged to dispose of them during this year's Great Drug Round-up. 1992 marks the first year the Alberta Veterinary Medical Association has been involved in the province wide project that encourages Albertans to bring old medications to local depots for proper disposal. The round-up runs through the month of May. "We're hoping farmers will make a conscious effort to take a look for old medications and clean them out," says Harry Dornn, the association's communications officer.

Alberta Agriculture is also encouraging farmers to get involved in the safety and environmental project. "We support this very worthwhile initiative," says Terry Church, head of the department's animal industry division. "Cleaning out old veterinary medications is part of being a responsible producer and we hope all farmers will take this opportunity to safely dispose of any old medications they may have." Solomon Kyremanteng, Alberta Agriculture's farm safety manager, echoes Church. "This is another way to reduce hazards around the farm," he says. The association has asked veterinarians to spread the word to their clients. Round-up site will be publicized in local communities. For more information, contact Dornn in Edmonton at 489-5007.

Treating grain bin pests

By Dr. J.R. Byers, Entomologist
Research Branch,
Agriculture Canada

Insects that feed on stored grain are major pests throughout the world, especially in tropical countries where losses of 30 to 50 per cent of harvest stores are not uncommon. In Canada, stored grain insects are usually much less of a problem because of low winter temperatures. However, the unusually mild winter this year has increased the number of infestations and also will increase the risk of infestations developing in grain that is held over into the summer. Often the amount of damage actually done to the grain is minimal. The main problem is that elevator companies will not accept grain if live insects are found in it.

Warm temperatures and high humidity favor development of infestations. Stored-grain pests reproduce most rapidly at temperatures around 25 degrees C. At temperatures below 15 degrees C, they reproduce very slowly or not at all. Grain harvested with a moisture content above 12 per cent and stored without aeration is much more likely to become infested than is grain that was harvested dry, although dry grain binned at high temperatures during warm harvest weather may become infested.

In Canada, field infestation is a remote possibility as a source of stored grain insects. The insects that are brought in from the field with harvested grain are not stored-grain pests and most will die within a few weeks. Infestations of stored-grain insects usually originate within cracks and crevices within the bin. Other infestations originate from adjacent bins of held-over grain or other farmland sources such as the spaces under old granaries, feed bins and hay storage areas.

Thorough cleaning of bins prior to filling is the most effective method of preventing infestations. Bins should be cleaned as soon as possible after they are emptied. If insecticidal empty-bin sprays are used, they should be regarded as a supplement to, rather than a substitute for sanitation. The sprays should be applied several weeks before the bin is filled with grain. Diatomaceous earth is registered as a nonchemical control of stored-grain insects in empty bins and is quite effective as a crack or crevice treatment.

The use of insecticides that are mixed with the grain as the bin is being filled is rarely justified under our conditions and is discouraged by the Canadian Grain Commission. Farmers, who have problems with stored-grain insects in spite of good empty-bin preparation, might consider the use of a grain protectant to treat only the surface layer of grain soon after the bin is filled. For insects that enter the bin from an external source, this surface is their first point of contact with the grain.

Once an infestation becomes established, two options are available. Cooling the grain to about minus 10 degrees C is quite effective. This can be done, provided winter weather co-operates, by transferring grain from one bin to another, or with an aeration system. The other option is fumigation. Phosphine gas is the fumigant currently used. It is economical and effective provided the temperature of the grain is about 10 degrees C. Because it is hazardous to use, a permit must be obtained beforehand. Fumigation with carbon dioxide shows considerable promise but it requires nearly air-tight storage bins.

Most of the losses and inconvenience caused by stored-grain insects can be prevented. Preventing infestations is easier, safer, and less expensive than controlling them.

Pool opens up to women

Delegates attending Manitoba Pool Elevators' spring meeting in Brandon last week voted overwhelmingly in support of by-law amendments that make it easier for farm spouses to participate equally in the democratic process of the Pool organization.

The by-law amendments passed give member spouses, upon application, joint membership in the organization and the eligibility to cast one vote jointly at the member level. Both spouses, however, are eligible for election to office at any level including local committees, sub-district councils, delegate body and board of directors.

Pool President Charlie Swanson said the organization "has never had any intentional barriers to farm women participating because membership is gender neutral. However, it has traditionally been the male partner of the farm family that has participated directly in the democratic process."

"These amendments recognize that farming is most often a family business and also provide the opportunity for one or both spouses to participate as full members in the democratic structure of Manitoba Pool elevators. They offer flexibility, especially for young families, so that either spouse may participate as time permits," said Swanson.

The amendments discussed at the meeting resulted from resolutions brought forward at the delegates' meeting in November by a special delegate committee reviewing the Pool's democratic structure.

A similar resolution has been brought forth at Alberta Pool's Annual Meeting three separate times, but has been defeated by the delegate body each time. Delegate, Terri-Lee Degenhardt says she doesn't understand why there is apprehension to approve the change and she plans to reintroduce the resolution at Alberta Pool's 1992 Annual Meeting.

Sheep industry initiatives announced

The first year of a long-term program aimed at further development of Alberta's sheep industry received a $200,000 allocation in the recent provincial budget.

"Although lamb and wool prices have been low over the last two years, the industry shows potential for growth," says Dennis Glover, director of Alberta Agriculture's processing services division.

"Our provincial industry has a solid base, which includes expertise in both production management and processing facilities," he says. The funding will be used to enhance the genetic base, lamb feedlotting, value-added products and market development.

"In promoting industry development, from producer to processor, Alberta's sheep industry will be in a better position to expand and take advantage of market opportunities," Glover adds.

Canadian sources supply only 30 per cent of the domestic demand for sheep and lamb Glover notes. "This provides a significant opportunity for Canadian producers and processors. Increased consumer awareness regarding the quality of lamb products available in Alberta is essential."

In 1991 farm cash receipts generated by Alberta's 270,000 head sheep industry approached $6 million. Currently most sheep produced in the province are for the meat industry.

Council continued from page 3

over what the final plans for the facility are before making a decision on how to vote in the upcoming plebiscite planned for May 26.

Information at the meeting will include final figures and up-to-date projected operating costs for the facility.

The meeting will be held Wednesday, May 20, 7:30 p.m. at the Didsbury Memorial Complex.

Town council has passed the town budget for 1992.

Final approval of the budget had been awaiting requisitions.

Under the operating and capitol budget, the non-residential mill rate will increase by 3.64 percent and the residential rate will increase by 4.45 percent over 1991.

Part of these increases were caused by the increase in requisitions received by the county school board, the Alberta Planning Board and the Mountain View Foundation. The school board requisition increased by 9 percent, which jumped the municipal mill rate up 2 percent. The Alberta Planning Board increased their requisition by 9 percent and the Mountain View Foundation by 14 percent.

The town's operating budget increased by $150,000 to $3,469,151, an increase of 3 percent in total expenditures.

WORKING UP A THIRST

Water—it's the most plentiful nutrient in our food supply and the one many people take for granted! You need water first and foremost. Your body has a built-in regulator to tell you when you need more water—it gives you that thirsty feeling! Although hunger strikes have shown us that man can live several weeks without food, you can't live for long without water.

Your body is made up of about 60% water. A loss of just 2% of body fluids can affect functioning; a loss of more than 5% can be life threatening. When your body becomes dehydrated, it loses its ability to regulate temperature.

When working or playing outside during the summertime, your body loses more fluid through perspiration (sweat) than at cooler times of the year. Sweating is your body's built-in defense against over heating as the evaporation of sweat has a cooling effect. This fluid loss however, must be replaced.

Which fluid is best? When exercising, cool water is the best thirst quencher. At other times, milk or fruit juice are also good choices. Certain fluids, such as tea, coffee and alcohol, tend to have a dehydrating effect on the body, so should not be used to quench thirst.

How much fluid should you drink when you're thirsty?

Generally speaking, drink until you quench your thirst and then have a few more sips. It's best to make a habit of drinking small amounts of fluid regularly throughout the day. Try to drink six to eight glasses of fluids each day, more if you are exercising heavily or working hard in the heat. Encourage your children to drink often during the day. With their smaller body size and high activity level, they can be quickly affected by dehydration on a hot summer day.

If you're planning a family outing or just working up a thirst around the yard, remember the forgotten nutrient—water!

Many thanks to Brenda White, Senior Nutrition Educator, Dairy Nutrition Council of Alberta, Calgary, Alberta for this informative article.

Alberta Museums celebrate International Museums Day

Museums across Alberta are joining an increasing number of museums throughout the world in celebrating International Museums Day, May 18, 1992.

International Museums Day was officially declared in 1977 when the International Council of Museums set aside May 18 as the annual date to honour museums worldwide.

For the fifth year in a row, the Alberta Museums Association is encouraging its member institutions to organize a special exhibit or event to demonstrate the variety and creativity of our museums. This year, even more Alberta museums are joining this international heritage network by celebrating their role in the community.

From Fairview to Cardston, from the Lac La Biche Mission to Rutherford House, museums across the province will open their doors for you to enjoy a special celebration for International Museums Day. What is your local museum planning this May long weekend?

Find out and help us celebrate International Museums Day; visit your local museum this May long weekend.

The Alberta Museums Association is based in Edmonton, Alberta. The association has over 335 individual members, 173 institutional members and 120 affiliate members.

May snowstorm welcomed by Olds' farmers

"Well, at least the farmers will be happy now that there's moisture"—a statement we've all likely heard on days where the rain pelts down in sheets... but what about snow?

According to Olds and area District Agriculturalist Ron Woolf, snow isn't always as beneficial to the farmer as most people might choose to believe. "Basically, it's good moisture and we need that, but if it gets down below zero and freezes, then that's not much good to anybody, in town or out."

The last time the Olds area was hit with a snowstorm in May was back in 1989. Massive quantities of the unusual wet, damp snowfall at that time won't likely be seen this week and while Woolf doubts whether Monday's unseasonable snowstorm will cause any serious damage to crops, it may not do them much good either. "We probably got only about half an inch out of the whole deal which isn't the end-all, but it does help out a bit."

Basically, farmers in the Olds area have been lucky. Woolf says some of the richest, most productive soil in the province is spread across the land encompassing the area, reducing some of the risks farmers down south experience. "You take a look at some of the guys farming out by Taber, for example, and you really get to appreciate the quality of land we have to work with up here. Those guys are basically farming in a dust bowl every year," Woolf explains.

Judging by the farmers Woolf encounters daily, the mood for this year's growing season is optimistic despite the country's recessionary hold on consumers and producers alike. "They are gritting their teeth like anyone else these days, but grain prices have improved somewhat and government programs such as G.R.I.P. (Gross Revenue Insurance Plan) do offer some assistance for those in need."

Moisture, Woolf chuckles, is a welcome commodity no matter what the source. "We just need it to warm up a bit so that the snow turns into rain like it's supposed to in May."

Town Administrator appointed

A new town administrator has been appointed for the Town of Olds.

John Van Doesburg, a native Albertan, was appointed to the position last week. He replaces previous town administrator Ron Hilton, who left last week to take a position with the administration in the City of Swift Current.

Olds Mayor Bob Armstrong said Van Doesburg has 14 years experience in municipal management, from the County of Strathcona, the Town of Stony Plain and the City of Wetaskwin. He was raised on a central Alberta dairy farm and has a degree in Recreation Administration from the University of Alberta and diplomas in Small Business Management, Economic Development and Local Government.

Van Doesburg will begin his new position on June 1.

Car safety clinic

Olds Tirecraft put on a Car Care Clinic for ladies which taught them about changing tires and keeping safe while driving. Other clinics will be held throughout the year for ladies to learn about caring for their cars. All clinics must be pre-registered.

Bedroom farce comes to Sundre

By Janice Harrington

Sundre residents will get a taste of Broadway comedy this spring when Peak Theatre Players stages their version of Move Over Mrs. Markham.

"We have done a lot of serious plays lately," said cast member Colleen Bailey. "So we felt like it was time to do something silly."

The play, which Bailey describes as a rollicking bedroom farce, will be staged at the Sundre Seniors' Recreation Centre this June. Bailey said the play is a confusing story of alleged infidelity and suspicion.

"It is one of those very confusing plays with lots of entrances and exits," she said. "The Markhams are the main couple and Mr. Markham believes Mrs. Markham is having an affair. There is lots of clandestine meetings and lots of action. I'm sure people will really enjoy it."

The two-act play will be offered for five nights, 2 as dessert nights, 2 as dinner nights and 1 as a student night. Dessert performances are June 5 and 12, with tickets at $12.50 each. Dinner performances are $20 and will run June 6 and 13. The student performance will be June 11.

Move Over Mrs. Markham is directed by Brian Bailey and stars Bill Lough of Sundre, Colleen Bailey of Bearberry, Ed Longwill of Didsbury, Paul Panteleo of Olds, Dianne Irvine of Sundre, Carol Grant of Sundre, Cheryl Goodwin of Rocky Mountain House and Sandy Watt of Sundre.

Tickets can be reserved by calling 638-4090.

To date Sundre RCMP have no suspect(s) and have not recovered the safe.

Anyone with information about this Break Enter and theft, please call Crime Stoppers or Sundre RCMP 638-3655.

If you have any information regarding this crime or any other serious crimes, call Crime Stoppers now at 340-TIPS, that's 340-8477 or call Toll Free at 1-800-242-TIPS or 1-800-922-TIPS. ## Sundre receives recycling grant

The Town of Sundre has been awarded a $35,130.52 grant through Alberta's Action on Waste program to cover the capital costs of the recycling equipment associated with the Town's waste transfer station. Details of the grant and project were announced by Olds-Didsbury MLA Roy Brassard, and Alberta Environment Minister Ralph Klein.

"The goal of the Action on Waste program is to reduce the amount of solid waste we produce by 50 percent by the year 2000," said Mr. Klein. "Facilities like the Sundre transfer station will ensure that we meet this important goal."

Mr. Brassard added, "By providing a recycling service to Sundre and the local area, this project will collect material which would otherwise be thrown away."

Operated through the Sundre and District Recycling Society, the project serves both the blue box program which operates in the Town and the County residents who drop material at the transfer station.

Under the Action on Waste program, municipalities and not-for-profit organizations can apply for Resource Recovery Grants to establish recycling and waste reduction projects. The Resource Recovery Grant Program has provided funds to over 200 projects throughout the province since 1976. The program encourages non-profit and service groups to involve their municipalities in recycling programs.

Forestry picnic

A free lunch sponsored by Sunpine Mills and the Alberta Forestry Service was put on at the Sundre IGA last week in celebration of National Forestry Week. Pancakes and sausages were served up to over 400 people. Both Sunpine and the local rangers plan to make this an annual event.

Fire ban for Bow/Crow Forest

A total fire ban for the forested area south of Caroline to the United States border has been issued by LeRoy Fjordbotten, Minister of Forestry, Lands and Wildlife.

This total fire ban is in effect immediately for all areas within forest fire control zones 1-4. This ban applies to all fires, including campfires or others lit for warming or cooking purposes. Any fires presently burning in these areas must be extinguished immediately.

"Due to hot, dry spring conditions, the fire hazard in south western Alberta is at an extreme danger level," said Fjordbotten. "Over 50 fires have already burned throughout this region this year. Until Forest Service meteorologists predict a break in these dry conditions, we need the cooperation of all Albertans to prevent fires from starting."

In these forest fire control zones, dry grasses and brush pose a serious threat. Landowners and forest users are asked to use extreme care with anything that might cause a fire such as power saws, matches, camp stoves and hot exhaust from vehicles.

With hot, dry conditions throughout much of Alberta, the provincial fire danger rating is high. There are no major fires burning at this time. To date there have been 202 fires in the province in 1992 and 1,352 hectares have been burned. At this time last year there had been 145 fires and 1,482 hectares were burned.

New club house offers expanded services

By Janice Harrington

After opening its doors to the public in early March, the new Carstairs Community Golf Club house is ready to become the place for dinner in Carstairs.

Dwayne Blume, General Manager of the Club, said the club house expansion has allowed the club to now offer a larger menu for breakfast through to dinner, and to increase the number of people who can dine at the club.

"The old club house was only about 3,500 square feet," Blume said. "The new one is about 11,000 square feet. So with this new building, we had the opportunity to expand our services."

The large club house, which began operations in early March, is the newest addition to the 30-year-old, member-owned club. Construction of the building began last September. Cost of the facility, not including kitchen equipment, was $635,000.

Blume said the new club house, which also includes a fully stocked pro-shop, locker rooms, lounges, banquet rooms and offices, will now also offer services during the off-season.

"We are interested in getting into off-season catering now," said Blume. "That is something we have never done before, but the facility is licensed for 180 people and if someone wants to put on a Christmas party or a wedding, we would certainly be interested."

The semi-private club, which boasts a membership list of 500 (50 percent of which come from Calgary), costs $2,500 per share to join. Annual dues for the course are $400 per year.

The course is located on the northern end of the Town of Carstairs on Highway 2A.

WHAT CAN FARM ESTATE PLANNING DO FOR YOU AND YOUR FAMILY?

Farm Planning has four main objectives:

- ☐ THE FIRST is to provide a secure and comfortable retirement for the farming couple. Retirement without planning is like trying to plant a crop without seed, it's not long before you come to realize you have nothing growing.
- ☐ THE SECOND objective is to keep the farm intact. Farming today is big business. Dividing the farm up into smaller units is self-defeating.
- ☐ THE THIRD objective is passing on the fruits of a lifetime's labour to the children in a fair and equitable manner. The distribution of estate assets should not create problems in the family.
- ☐ THE FINAL objective is to minimize the taxes and estate settlement costs.

A different kind of holiday

If a picture says a thousand words, then a group of aspiring writers on a scenic cruise should be able to write volumes. Such is the hope of Edmonton entrepreneur Joyce Garipey, the brains behind Write On Holidays, Inc. An innovative and interesting way to take a vacation.

Garipey, a journalist, communications consultant and writing instructor has come up with a way to make an already exciting ocean cruise into a creative outlet for a variety of want-to-be authors. Garipey, provides writers of all ages and abilities with professional instruction in creative writing, helps them develop new skills and offers much needed encouragement. The surroundings provide the inspiration. The program must be working—60% of the alumni have been published in a variety of magazines.

The Write On Holidays experience is not all work. Writers have afternoons free to relax, mingle and sightsee or take part in special group activities, such as: touring the ship's bridge and galley, meeting with authors, artists, politicians and other local personalities. Professional instruction on board in creative writing, group sessions and individual consultation is offered to give those who have always dreamed of becoming writers the holiday of their lives.

Garipey offers her students an array of interesting destinations, which have included: Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands and the Caribbean. Garipey's sights are now set on her next tour, an 11 day excursion to Scandinavia and Russia is set to sail August 5th to 16th of 1992.

For more information on taking this kind of holiday, contact Write On Holidays, Inc., P.O. Box 4893, Edmonton, Alberta, T6E 5G7 or call (403) 438-6335.

Baseball season begins

By Janice Harrington

Baseball season is under way in Didsbury with the beginning games of all leagues either under way or starting this week.

M.J. Paul, little league organizer said a number of children are signed up for this year's season which runs through until June 13.

"We have two T-ball teams for ages 3,4,5 and 6 and the rest are made up of mites to midges in girls and mites to bantam in boys," Paul said. "We have quite a few players this year."

But while Paul said the league is looking forward to another good season, there are some concerns over the state of baseball diamonds in town.

"There are 2 slowpitch diamonds we play on, and we play on the Jet's diamond and another by the complex as well as the T-ball diamond behind Ross Ford," Paul said. "Three of those are adequate and three are not so adequate. We really need to do something about them."

Paul said increased parent support would help make sure the season is a good one for the kids.

The Didsbury Jets begin their season this week with a game in Sundre this evening.

Kevin Krebs said the team has had a great turnout this year, with 16 players making up the roster. The Jets will spend the season playing teams from Sundre, Olds, Westerdale and Westcott.

A boys hardball team is attempting to get started for the first time in Didsbury. The team is for 13- and 14-year-olds and they are looking for more players. If you are interested contact Bud Reid at 335-3501.

Award winning season

The Olds Grizzlys ended their spectacular 10th season this year with their annual awards banquet. All the players were shown appreciation for their team effort over the year which ended with the Alberta Junior Hockey League championship title. Olds Mayor Bob Armstrong and Olds/Didsbury MLA Roy Brassard made the presentations to all the players.

Local talent chosen for concert tour

By Janice Harrington

A local high school student is one of a number of students from across the country to be chosen to join a Canadian concert tour of Europe.

Jason Valleau, a student at Didsbury High School was picked to join the tour which will travel to 7 different European countries this summer.

The concert tour is part of the 1992 Canadian Youth on Tour program which allows Canada's best student musicians and singers a chance to work together and to perform to European audiences as well as to visit some of the places where the best music in the world was made.

Students who join this tour are chosen through audition and recommendation and come from all across the country.

Ian Taylor, principal at the Didsbury High School said Valleau has always shown a real aptitude for music since attending the high school.

"He has always been a very prominent figure ever since he started band," Taylor said. "In particular he started the jazz choir and was responsible for organizing it and running the practices. It was started just before Christmas and is getting quite widely known now."

Taylor said Valleau has shown great talent in music and is proficient on a number of different instruments including the jazz piano, bass guitar, clarinet and drums. During his tour with the Canada National Youth Tour Band and Choir, he will play clarinet with the 27 person concert band and bass guitar with the jazz ensemble. A third musical group, the youth choir, is also organized for the students in the tour, but Valleau will not be singing with them.

The tour, sponsored by the Red Deer College, leaves for its three week tour of Europe on July 7.

Not A Good Way To Slim

The popularity of diet beverages seems to be a phenomenal success. The "Ultra Slim-Fast" and "Dynatrim" products have moved from the back shelves of drug stores to the milk and hot chocolate shelf in the grocery store. But are "meal replacements" such a good idea?

As a weight loss program, "meal replacements" have a few drawbacks. Most dietitians and nutritionists like to see people eat real food rather than take pills and drink supplements. We need to eat more healthy, lower calorie foods and incorporate regular activities into their lives for successful weight loss. Diet beverages do neither of these. The best that can be said is that they are a temporary measure until the dieter learns about healthy breakfasts and lunches.

So why is real food so important? Food provides us with vitamins, minerals, fibre, and protein. Diet beverages include all the nutrients; however, we don't know everything about nutrition and the way different food components contribute to health. For example, in the last 10 years, we learned beta-carotenes may prevent cancer. This form of vitamin A is not found in vitamin pills, nor in meal replacements.

"Meal replacements" provide only a small number of calories needed during the day. Each glass made with 2% milk has about 250 calories--500 calories for breakfast and lunch. Compare this to the recommended daily minimum of 1,200 calories for women and 1,500 calories for men. This leaves at least 700-1,350 calories from food. Some of this food is probably needed at breakfast or lunch. This brings me back to my original point--why not eat real food in the first place?

Some people should check with a dietitian or their doctor before using the beverages. This includes all teenagers, as their calories and nutrient needs will not be met by following these plans. People with diabetes, food allergies and other special needs should also discuss with their doctor first.

Diet beverages have been around a long time. The limitations of these foods have not changed in over 10 years, nor are they likely to change.

For more information on healthy weight loss programs, contact Wendy Benson, R.D., Community Nutritionist at 221-8000.

Record year for mortgage insurance

A record number of 186,783 households were insured through National Housing Act mortgage insurance in 1991, according to Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation's 1991 Annual Report.

CMHC, Canada's housing agency, also returned more than $30 million in profit and taxes to the federal treasury last year, according to the Corporation's 46th Annual Report, released today by Elmer MacKay, Minister responsible for CMHC.

"The Corporation continues to be a strong economic performer while providing an important service to Canadians," Mr. MacKay said.

Mortgage-backed Securities had another record year, with $3.2 billion in issues--a 52 per cent increase over last year. Total sales since 1987 topped $8.4 billion--32 per cent for social housing mortgage renewals alone.

In 1991, CMHC Mortgage Loan Insurance in force grew to $58.3 billion. Over 12.5 per cent of loans insured last year were for homes purchased in small towns and rural areas.

The federal government continues to support housing for low-income Canadians. Housing expenditures in 1991 were $1.9 billion. Assistance was provided for the operation of 650,000 existing housing units in 1991. The federal government's social housing objective is to assist those Canadians who cannot obtain affordable and adequate shelter in the private market.

CMHC currently administers about seven per cent of Canada's entire housing stock.

To date, the Corporation has reduced federal costs by more than $150 million through a competitive process for mortgage renewals on social housing projects.

Penny counter

Doug Herold of Didsbury has a real eye for figures and proved it by making the closest guess to how much money was in the Mutual Life booth jar at the Trade Fair. Herold guessed $126.57 and won the whole pot--worth $126.60.

East Didsbury W.I. Conference report

By Toni Bennett

The 31st Annual East Didsbury Women's Institute Conference was held at Lone Pine Hall on April 8, 1992 with the Lone Pine branch as hostess club for the day. Jean McCulloch, pianist, opened the meeting with O'Canada after which the Mary Stewart Collect was recited.

Gladys Dowell, Constituency Convenor, read a poem in remembrance of departed members.

Head table guests were Shirleyann Hammer, 1st Vice-President, Kay Silver, District V Director, Gladys Dowell and Toni Bennett, Secretary.

Secretarial reports were moderated by Toni and each branch gave us a short report of their year's activities.

Kay Silver's report brought us up to date on her activities. She thanked us for our contribution towards the Travel Fund and reminded us that her term of office is over in March 1993.

During the day, each Education Convenor gave a summary of received papers. It was evident by the variety of topics and information presented that we take these reports very seriously and appreciate furthering our own knowledge.

The first of our two guest speakers was Anne Milne who gave a video presentation and summary of the services offered by "Life Line"--an emergency contact that is available in our area to the elderly and/or handicapped.

Gladys presented her constituency report and financial statement. She thanked each branch for their support and friendship over the past year. Gladys' term of convenor is over in April 1993 and she asked that we each consider becoming a convenor.

Shirleyann Hammer, our Provincial office representative, brought us information on the activities and projects carried out on a provincial level.

Our second guest speaker was Pat Mogck, a lady RCMP officer from the Didsbury Detachment. Pat gave informative points on watching out for our own safety and welfare. She also told us of her personal trials of "breaking into" a male-oriented profession--as well as some very humorous anecdotes.

The Constituency Project for this year will benefit STARS.

The Nominating Committee reported the appointment of Janice Coates as Education Convenor of Education and Cultural Affairs.

Handicraft Convenor Chris Milne presented her report: 74 articles, 66 red ribbons and 8 blue. Individual winners were: Sewing, Hazel Milne; Weaving, Jeanette Hunter; Knitting, Marjorie Fisher; Rug, Myra Underhay.

Grand Aggregate Winner was Marjorie Fisher. Individual club ratings were: Mountain View - 159 points for 19 articles - average 8.37; Lone Pine - 171 points for 20 articles - average 8.55; North Lone Pine - 87 points for 10 articles - average 8.70; Bancroft - 218 points for 25 articles - average 8.72.

The Handicraft Trophy was presented to Bancroft.

Evelyn Clarke, Home Ec. Convenor, reported a total of 110 entries - 87 red, 21 blue, 2 white.

Individual winners were: Candy - Evelyn Clarke; Muffins - Jean McCulloch; Bread - Evelyn Clarke; Doughnuts - Helen Weber.

Grand Aggregate winner was Chris Milne.

The Fry's Cocoa Special was won by Jean McCulloch, 2nd to Hazel Milne, 3rd to Janice Coates.

Club ratings: Lone Pine - 242 points for 28 entries - average 8.29; Mountain View - 143 points for 17 entries - average 8.41; North Lone Pine - 297 points for 35 entries - average 8.48; Bancroft - 257 points for 30 entries - average 8.57.

The Home Ec. trophy was presented to Bancroft.

Bancroft received the Proficiency Award - a clean sweep by a deserving group of ladies.

Door prizes, donated by each branch, were drawn throughout the day. A very special thank you to Mary Pratt who donated several door prizes and paid her registration even though she was unable to attend the conference.

A tea and fellowship followed the official closing of the conference. Thanks to Gladys for a great meeting.

Please watch for the date of our 32nd Annual Conference in 1993. A small fee of $2.00 gives you an informative, educational and entertaining day. A delicious lunch and tea is included and you can also view prize winning handicraft and home ec. entries.

He's not drunk.
He has Huntington's.

He can't walk a straight line. He slurs his words and drops things. He's not drunk. He has Huntington's disease.

This is a cruel and terminal neurological disease that attacks the mind and body. In its initial stages, the person may appear drunk. Later, he loses his ability to walk and talk clearly. Eventually, he needs full-time care.

Huntington's is hereditary. Every child of a person with the disease, whether male or female, has a 50-50 chance of inheriting it.

Although there is no cure, there is hope. Now, those who are at risk can undergo a genetic test that predicts whether or not they will develop the disease. With more research, hopefully we can find a cure.

Our only chance is you. Any support you can give will make a difference.

Jackson W.I. news

Seventeen members of the Jackson W.I. met on April 29 at Helen Pearson's beautiful home. Our hostess chose "There Are Smiles" as our opener and we then repeated the Mary Stewart Collect. The roll-call was "A recent book I've read." Several members read gardening catalogues; several read political books such as "R.B. Bennett" or "A Capitol Scandal" or "House is not a Home" by Erik Nielson. But the majority seemed to derive their reading pleasure from mysteries and science fiction. A favorite author was Rosamunde Pilcher, who has written alot of "Good-Read" novels, and the Holy Bible was chosen as a daily read.

The secretary, Lita Reid, read the minutes of the March meeting, which were adopted as read. Marie Olson gave her treasurer's report. Joan Foat, our president, thanked those members who had taken food contributions to the Harmattan conference. Elma Bird, by default, was our delegate. Thank you, Elma. There were about 50 members from our district registered. There was just less than a hundred handicraft articles submitted for judging and 30 food items. A judge failed to show, so some of the judging was done capably by some of the members present.

"Cremona Days" was discussed with Kay Unger giving a report on the progress to date. One innovation deemed necessary was to designate a time to award the prizes so that more than a handful of spectators would be present.

The Olds Convention will be held on June 9, 10, 11. A delegate from our institute will be chosen at the May meeting.

June Lore, speaking about the Cochrane Heritage Center, will be our guest speaker at the next meeting. The Zella Institute will be invited to participate with us. Note the change of venue, Joan Foat's home. Marie Batenburg will host the June meeting instead.

Mary Jane Davies made a motion to donate financially to a charity organization in memory of Joyce Topping. Nellie Davies seconded the motion and it was carried.

Our meeting was adjourned and we were shown a display of the many stitches used in handbag by Gerda Niehaus. There were several finished projects that were on display as well. Thank you Gerda.

Lunch was served by Marie Batenburg and Alice Van Arnam.

Remember the next meeting will be at Joan Foat's on May 27th.

Way of Life

Rev. Eric Betsch
Redeemer Lutheran Church,
Didsbury

As some of you already know it was very early Sunday morning that the angel of the Lord spoke to the women who came out to the empty grave of our Lord. Mark's Gospel tells us: "And he said to them, Do not be amazed, you are looking for Jesus the Nazarene, who has been crucified. He has risen; He is not here; behold here is the place where they laid Him. But go tell His disciples and Peter. He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him, just as He said to you" (Mark 16:6-7).

Why is Peter singled out from the rest of the disciples?

Because he too needed to learn the blessed Easter news. He had just recently denied that he even knew his Lord and Master. He thought that the risen Lord would welcome all the other disciples back into His grace, but never himself, the great sinner and backslider. So it was that Peter was to be told that the risen Lord Jesus still loves him, has forgiven him, and also wishes to meet with him and the other disciples in Galilee!

What a merciful Savior we have in our risen Lord! He is ready to forgive even the backsliding among His followers and to take them again into this His blessed company.

The world is filled with fallen Peters, people who have denied or still deny their Lord. They vowed to be faithful to Him until death but at some point they forget His Gospel and live with the world and for the world. These people are not really happy. Often in secret they long to be back with their Savior, with His Gospel, with His Church.

Where you and I know of such a faithless Peter, we are to make it our business to tell them the blessed truth that the risen Lord Jesus still loves them and desires to have them back in His saving fold. God bless you as you go and tell the Peters of our community that our Lord is alive.

Choir to entertain at local church

The Bethel College Concert Choir, Mishawaka, Indiana, will be ministering at Didsbury Missionary Church on Wednesday, May 13th at 7:30 p.m. Bethel College is an evangelical Christian College from the United States affiliated with the Missionary Church.

The Concert Choir is a select 40-member ensemble which sings approximately 25 concerts each school year. The music is sacred and covers many historical periods and styles. Hymn arrangements, instruments, and testimony are also part of the program. Selections are chosen around a theme. This year's theme is, "The Singer Can Be Silenced, But Never The Song."

This program is part of a two-week tour through the states of Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, and the Canadian provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Two Canadian students are members of the choir.

Excellence in performance and excellence in ministry are two priorities for the ensemble. The choir is under the direction of Robert N. Ham, an assistant professor of music at Bethel. Robert Rhein, also a Bethel professor, will accompany.

The program is open to the public and an offering will be taken.

AWCTU convention report

The Alberta Women's Christian Temperance Union held its 78th Annual Convention at the Christian Life Centre in Calgary, May 4-6th. Some 40 official delegates assembled for this occasion.

Greetings from the Ministerial were brought by Brig. Pierce. Rev. Norman Reimer of the Parkdale Missionary Church very capably handled our "Consecration Service."

Our guest speaker was missionary Mrs. Lenora Peas, who challenged us to greater commitment in the Lord's service and in our work of the W.C.T.U.

Our special music was provided by Mr. & Mrs. Alho and Mr. & Mrs. Fred Fleck.

No concrete invitation was extended for our '93 Convention but suggestions intimated that Medicine Hat might be the place.

The Didsbury Representative was Mrs. Alice Lonie.

Get Casual For A Cause

On Friday, June 19, thousands of office workers across the province will get casual for a cause.

In exchange for a suggested minimum contribution of $5.00 to Cerebral Palsy Association in Alberta, employees will receive a button allowing them to come to work in casual clothes on Casual Day '92 - June 19.

It's a great way to help people with cerebral palsy and their families. And it's a morale booster for employees.

To register your company to participate in Cerebral Palsy Association in Alberta's Casual Day '92 call your local CP office or 1-800-661-7279.

And get casual!
